

ADRIAN ALAN

Fine Art & Antiques

Cox & Yeman

An Exceptional Carved Walnut Full Size Billiard Table and Accessories by Cox & Yeman

Circa: 1880

1880

91 x 201 x 380 cm (35 ⁷/₁₆ x 79 ¹/₁₆ x 149 ⁵/₁₆ inches)

England

Bearing an ivorine label 'COX & YEMAN / Billiard Table Manufacturers / 184 BROMPTON ROAD, / London'

An Exceptional Carved Walnut Full Size Billiard Table and Accessories by Cox & Yeman.

One end bearing an ivorine label 'COX & YEMAN / Billiard Table Manufacturers / 184 BROMPTON ROAD, / London'.

London, Circa 1880.

Set also including:

- A carved and figured walnut scoreboard by Cox and Yeman, London,
- An oak and beechwood revolving cue stand,
- A set of twenty two 'Aramith Phenolic' resin billiard balls,
- A collection of twenty cues and rests in ash and other timbers.

Dimensions of Playing Area:

Width: 178 cm / 70 inches

Length: 357 cm / 141 inches

Artist description:

The Billiard table manufacturers Cox and Yeman, was established in the 1850's and by 1873 was trading from premises at 184 Brompton Road, London. Famed for the quality of their tables they are recorded as supplying important patrons such as the Duke of Wellington, the Duke of Richmond and the King of Siam.

They were also noted as suppliers of Billiard tables for the War Office and the Admiralty, supplying the far flung outposts of the Empire and producing 'Tables and Lamps made expressly for India and Extreme Climates'.

In 1876 the partnership was dissolved but the company continued to trade successfully under the Cox and Yeman name, under the direction of Henry Cox, until finally closing in 1910.