

ADRIAN ALAN

Fine Art & Antiques

Solei Hebert

A Large Pair of Italian Rococo Style Carved Giltwood Mirrors by Solei Hebert.

Circa: Italian, Circa 1890

A Large Pair of Italian Rococo Style Carved Giltwood Mirrors by Solei Hebert.

Of impressive scale at over 248 cm (98 inches) high this fine pair of giltwood mirrors have arched crestings carved with scrolling acanthus and vacant cartouches.

Italian, Circa 1890.

Artist description:

The firm of Solei Hebert was an important nineteenth century Italian furniture maker and furnishing company, with a textile factory in Turin and a furniture manufactory at Palermo, Sicily. By the end of the century the furniture workshops in Palermo were taken over by the famous firm of Ducrot, who won medals at the 1902 Turin International Exhibition and furnished amongst other important commissions the Parliament building in Rome. The crystal, glass and mirror division was taken over by the firm of Bournique who continued successfully into the early years of the twentieth century, embracing new styles and technical innovations.